DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The subject matter of this application admits of illustration by a drawing to facilitate understanding of the invention. Applicant is required to furnish a drawing (Figure 3, as recited in the specification) under 37 CFR 1.81(c). No new matter may be introduced in the required drawing. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d).

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the cable pull, Bowden wire, and lumbar support must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: The specification describes and refers to a Fig. 3; however, the drawings do not contain a Fig. 3.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 9 and 14-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 9, line 2 "the at least one resiliently elastic element" has no definite antecedent basis.

Claims 14-24 are indefinite in that it is unclear what the configuration of the cable pull relative to the adjustment device looks like.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-10 and 12-24, so far as understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Knelsen et al (6918884).

The mounting plate is 62, the adjustment part is 72, the rest portion is 4, the mechanical energy storage means is 74, the adjusting unit is mechanical or an electric motor (col. 5, lines 1-2), the middle portion of the adjusting part is between the edges of 74, and the cable pull is 64.

Note that in claims 12 and 13 "for adjusting a rest portion of a seat" and "for adjusting the rest width of a seat" are intended use statements that do not receive patentable weight.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Knelsen et al.

The shape of the adjustment device in the Knelsen reference has an end portion (at the bottom, as best seen in Fig. 6, wherein the bottom portion is bent at approximately 90 degrees) that has a bigger width than that of the middle portion. To form the top portion of the adjustment device of Knelsen such that it had a bigger width than that of the middle portion is considered to be an obvious choice to one of ordinary skill in the art providing the obvious advantage and predictable results of greater strength.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Massara et al, Gabas et al, Zeile et al, Schonauer, Kopetzky et al, Blendea et al, Blendea et al, Schuster et al, Dickson and Yamaguchi et al all teach devices similar to that of the instant invention.
